How a Book Succeeds

Some Facts About

MY LADY OF THE NORTH

A few months ago we published this Civil War romance—the love story of a Virginia captain and a fair Northerner.

The first edition was a very large one, but we felt confident that there was in this book every element of a popular success.

This has proved to be the case.

Thousands have been glad to read so exciting and vigorous a story, with a heroine of such decided charm, and seven large editions have now been printed.

It has been serialized in about twenty large papers.

Editions have been made for Canada, England, and the Continent—and the second Canadian edition has just been ordered.

Out of the first one hundred reviews, ninety-five were enthusiastically favorable.

We are spending $340 to impart this and other information to the 700,000 readers of the Saturday Evening Post, in their issue of April 8. Have you plenty of "My Lady" in stock?

HARPER'S NEW PUBLICATIONS

Fond Adventures

By Maurice Hewlett

Author of "The Forest Lovers."

MAURICE HEWLETT stands alone among contemporary romanticists. The present volume is a collection of four tales of considerable length—"The Heart's Key," "Buondelmonte's Saga," "Brazenhead the Great," and "The Love Chase"—each characteristic of the author's rare genius and distinctive style. The tales are afire with passion and full of the color and poetry of medieval romance.

Post 8vo. Cloth, $1.50.

The Second Wooing of Salina Sue

By Ruth McEnery Stuart

For years Mrs. Stuart has taken front rank as a delineator of character, and, being a Southern woman, has laid the scenes of most of her charming stories in the South. The present volume is a delightful succession of the comedies and tragedies of quaint corners of the Southland. The stories include "Tobe Taylor's April Foolishness," "Milady," "Minervy's Valentine," "The Second Wooing of Salina Sue," and other inviting titles.

The Club of Queer Trades

By Gilbert K. Chesterton

Author of "A Napoleon of Notting Hill."

A group of original and fantastic short stories written in witty and brilliant style. Only those are eligible to the Club of Queer Trades who have devised some novel means of making a livelihood. In depicting the extraordinary adventures and unheard of occupations of this original band, Mr. Chesterton has given us fiction of a highly entertaining type.

The Courtship of a Careful Man

By E. S. Martin

These are clever stories of life in New York, with a large allowance of dialogue of a cheerful quality. Nearly all the stories are concerned with the interesting moments of courtship. They are all agreeable stories about agreeable people, written in Mr. Martin's genial style with deft touches of humor.

Illustrated. Post 8vo. Cloth, $1.50

Judith Triumphant

By Thompson Buchanan

Author of "The Castle Comedy."

The author has produced a stirring romance and a vivid historical picture. The basis of the story is the well known tale of the Hebrew maiden who risked both life and honor to save her city from Holofernes and the Assyrians. The story deals with elemental passions, rousing a deep interest in the personality and fortunes of Judith and marvellously reflecting the spirit of the age.

HARPER & BROTHERS, PUBLISHERS, NEW YORK.

The MILLIONAIRE BABY,
the new romance by Anna
Katharine Green, author of "The Filigree Ball," is unquestionably this brilliant writer's best work.
We know of no straight,
out and out detective story which contains more thrills and exciting climaxes, nor one with plot so intricate and skillfully hidden.

THE ORCHARD —AND— FRUIT GARDEN

By E. P. POWELL

The Prize Fruit-Crower of New York State

THIS book is indispensable to everyone who desires to get the best results from his fruit or berries—either in growing them for the market or for his own table. All the important known varieties of fruit grown in America from apples, peaches, plums, quinces, pears, apricots, strawberries, blackberries, currants, grapes, mulberries, down to dates, figs, and many others, are considered each under separate headings. The pests peculiar to each fruit are indicated and the most approved methods for destroying them are given. It is a book by a nature lover and an expert—interesting to read, valuable as a guide.

NOTES IN SEASON.

EDWARD J. CLODE, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, has issued "A Mysterious Disappearance," by Gordon Holmes, a detective story which brings in two diametrically opposite characters in the two detectives employed on the case—the Scotland Yard man and the amateur. These detectives and the reader receive about the same clue, and their different speculations make an ingenious story.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready Mary King Waddington's new volume, "Italian Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," a companion to her "Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," and abounding in interesting reminiscences of distinguished persons; "Iconoclasts, a book of dramatists," in which James Huneker gives brilliant studies of the revolutionary continental playwrights of the day; and Quiller-Couch's new novel, "Shining Ferry," a romance of life in Cornwall.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready Maurice Hewlett's new volume of short stories, "Fond Adventures," mediæval romances full of his characteristic vitality and color; "The Second Wooing of Salina Sue," quaint comedies and tragedies of Southern life, by Ruth McEnery Stuart; "The Courtship of a Careful Man," a book of clever tales of New York life to-day by E. S. Martin; "The Club of Queer Trades," original and fantastic short stories reminiscent of Stevenson, by Gilbert K. Chesterton; and a vivid romance of ancient Hebrew life in "Judith Triumphant," by Thompson Buchanan, who has taken the fall of Holofernes as the central incident in his stirring narrative.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY publish to-day "After the Divorce," translated from the Italian of Grazia Deledda by Maria Horner Lansdale, turning upon the law which frees a wife when her husband is a convict; "Belted Seas," by Arthur Colton, the humorous adventures of a captain on his voyages to strange places in South America and elsewhere; and "Harvest of Chaff," by Owen Seaman, a series of parodies of Kipling, Richard Wagner, Wordsworth, Browning, Byron, Morris and many others who have had their place in the front rank of popularity. Two noteworthy books for young people are also ready—"The Boys of Bob's Hill," by Charles Pierce Burton, and "Nut-Brown Joan," the story of an "ugly duckling," by Marian Ames Taggart, author of "Miss Lochinvar." They also call attention to Mrs. Rankin's "Dandelion Cottage," of which the sales are steadily increasing.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. publish to-day "The Religion of Duty," by Felix Adler, head of the Ethical Culture Society in New York City; "Alaska and the Klondike," by J. S. McLain, who accompanied the Senatorial Commission that went to gather information about our great northern possession; on April 5 "The Orchard and Fruit Garden," by E. P. Powell; and on April 15 "The Wing of Love," by Katherine M. C. Meredith, the story of a child who brings comfort and happiness to a group of actors, artists and musicians who live with her in a garret; "Marriage and Divorce," by Dr. Felix Adler; and "Russian Literature," by Prince Kropotkin. On April 25 will appear "Pardners," stories of Alaskan life by Rex E. Beach; "The Girl from Home," by Isobel Strong; "The Troll Garden," by Willa Siebert Cather, a story of New York Bohemian life; and "Lady Noggs—Peeress," by Edgar Jepson, the story of a delightful girl who gets her own way generally.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Alston, Leonard. Modern constitutions in outline: an introductory study in political science. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 8+72 p. O. cl., 90 c.

Students and the busy general reader will find this equally serviceable. It first points out specific and similar constitutional features under "Federalism and the Bicameral system," The parley system; Government by cabinet, and "The demarcation of powers." Then takes separate constitutions of France, the United States, Switzerland, Prussia, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Scandinavia, other European States and the British Empire—and carefully analyzes them.

Altsheler, Jos. Alex. The candidate: a political romance. N. Y., Harper, 1905. [Mr.] c. 3+429 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

From the moment James Grayson is nominated for President of the United States until he is elected five months later, the story winds its way through true-to-life pictures of a Presidential Candidates' campaign, in which appears a charming romance. In Grayson's western tour of speech-making he is accompanied by Mrs. Grayson, his niece, a deshing girl from Idaho and the correspondent of a leading New York daily—the two latter of course fall in love with each other. The narrative is said to be founded upon the political experience of a prominent public man.

Bennet, Rob. Ames. For the White Christ: a story of the days of Charlemagne; having pictures and designs by Troy and Margaret West Kinney. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 10-474 p. O. cl., †$1.50. The real Roland and Oliver around whom medieval romance has woven so many wonderful legends are the leading characters in a story of the court of Charlemagne in the 8th century. The Danes and the Vikings in sea fights are the center of vivid descriptive scenes, while the court of Charlemagne, where gather many brilliant figures of Pagan and Christian is the background to tales of love and intrigue in which the figure of "the white Christ" and the influence of his beautiful teachings on the Norsemen brought there, are picturesquely depicted. Charlemagne himself is an imposing figure, his personality pervading the story. The book is unusually rich in binding and printing. The pages are enclosed in a characteristic frame printed in a tint—and there is a frontispiece in colors. The title-page is in red and black.

Cheney, Warren. The way of the north: a romance of the days of Baranof. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 7+320 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Baranof was the first governor of Russian America in the 18th century, the time of this story. In one of the settlements of Russians and Indians planted by him, a sincere and poetical love story is developed. The surroundings are new and little known and carefully studied. The characters besides Baranof—a strong portrait of a rough individuality—comprise a Russian priest of childlike nobility, a young Russian girl, who has come out to the settlement, to join her betrothed, whom she has not seen for several years, and finds him in love with another woman. A man who has made the voyage over with her tells the story, and of his determination to win her if he can.

The Ravanel were Southern people, whose men had fought for the Confederacy. The reader is introduced to them in their home near Natchez on the borders of the Mississippi in the terrible days of Reconstruction. Mayor Stephen Ravanel is taken from his wife and little children by the hand of a murderer and political foe. His boy Stephen, then a mere child is brought up by his aunt, with the ever constant thought that he must revenge his father's death. Stephen's opportunity comes when a man grown, and how he makes use of it is very dramatic and thrilling. His love story is sweet and tender.

"This work is the outgrowth of a statistical study of removal from office begun in the Seminary of American History and Institutions at Harvard University. The results of this preliminary study were published in the Annual Report of the American Historical Association for 1899. The interest thus aroused led to a broader investigation, which has been continued for about five years. . . . The subject which the book attempts to treat defies concise definition. . . . The leading words of the title limit each other; it is a history of the civil service from the standpoint of the patronage, and of the patronage with regard solely to the public offices." —Preface.

From 1194 till 1266 the German dynasty of Hohenstaufen oppressed Sicily. The historic events of this period, the death of a great pope and the final overthrow of the dynasty are mirrored in a love-tale of many trials. The Provençals of France hit the final blow, which ten years later was avenged in the extermination of every Frenchman on the island. Many battles and the great valor and devotion of women make stirring chapters.

Ghosh, Sarath Kumar. The verdict of the gods. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1905. c. 02, '05. 6+307 p. il. D. cl., \dagger $1.50.

An East Indian tale of a great king who lay sick unto death. To cheer his last moments his physician sent for an old story-teller who told of the great trials to which a lover submitted to win a bride. His burial alive, fights with tigers and poisonous serpents were mild forms of torture. When the harrowing tale had ended happily, the king was better and knew that "one in the grip of death may yet escape." The author is a high cast Indian, who writes in English.

McCarthy, Justin Huntly. The dryad: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1905. [Mr.] c. 4+314 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Medieval romance and Greek mythology are charmingly and wittily blended in this story. A French prince of the 14th century travelling through an enchantingly beautiful forest meets a dryad. She tells him her story—that she is the daughter of a dryad, but that her father was a mortal and that she is endowed with immortal youth. The Prince woos her, but the penalty she pays, if she weds him, it is to lose her immortality. Many picturesque events occur before the tale is brought to a successful ending, in which Simon of Rouen, a soldier of fortune, takes a vigorous part.

Diana Chaters, the beautiful, dashing belle of Charles Town, S. C., in the early years of the eighteenth century and Robert Marshall, a young Virginian, are the figures in the love story which is here depicted. Diana had been jilted at the altar in Charles Town, and in her despair and shame had moved her home and household to Savannah. Marshall appears as an officer in the Colonial army and they quickly learn to love each other. There are many battles with the Indians, and, a vigorous picture painted of the sea-islands of Georgia. General Oglethorpe the English philanthropist is a leading character.

Mitchell, Silas Weir, M.D. Constance Trescot: a novel. N. Y., Century Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 3+384 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

A young Northern officer just after the close of the Civil War, settled in a Southern city with his bride. They were from Boston and both had pronounced views regarding the war, and found themselves up against prejudices equally as strong as their own. The young man is a lawyer, and in the settlement of some land claims he is shot—"murdered" his wife says. This tragedy is the motive of the book; the fierce vendetta it generates in the woman's character, her bitter revenge and strange mental development are analyzed and described as only a physician of Dr. Mitchell's standing and research could portray them.

Sloan, Annie L. The Carolinians: an old-fashioned love story of stirring times in the early colony of Carolina. Wash., D. C., Neale Publishing Co., 1904. c. 375 p. il. map, 12°, cl., $1.50.

Smith, C: F. Practical testing of dynamos and motors. N. Y., McGraw Publishing Co., 1905. 231 p. il. 8°, cl., $2.

An elementary introduction to the study of continuous current dynamo machinery. The use of mathematics has been avoided as far as possible.

Smith, Francis Hopkinson. At close range. N. Y., Scribner, 1905. [Mr.] c. 6+260 p. il. D. cl., *$1.50.

Mr. Hopkinson Smith's theory "that at the bottom of every heart-crucible choked with life's cinders, there can almost always be found a drop of gold," finds illustration in these nine stories. Their names are: A night out; An extra blanket; A medal of honor; The Rajah of Bungpore; The Soldo of the Castellanes; A point of honor; Simple folk; "Old Sunshine"; A pot of gain.

Soulsby, Susan Sybilla. Home is best: papers by Susan Sybilla Soulsby; ed., with preface, by L. H. M. Soulsby. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1904. 24+125 p. il. D. cl., 90 c.

Twelve papers, namely: The seasons of life; Clergy wives; Letter writing; Children's books; Change of air; Single women; "Castle builders"; Grievances; Home life; Ways and means; Cerebosalt; Robbed of her whelps. Preceded by a sketch of Mrs. Soulsby's life, written by her daughter.

The titles of the essays are as follows: 1. Religion and art; 2. The development of educational ideas in the nineteenth century; 3. The meaning and worth of education; 4. The physician's calling and education; 5. Social questions.

Stone, J: C: Method in geometry. Bost., Heath, 1904. c. 40 p. diagrs., (Heath's mathematical monographs.) pap., 10 c.

Stotsenburg, J: Hawley. An impartial study of the Shakespeare title, with facsimiles. Louisville, Ky., J: P. Morton & Co., 1904. c. 12+530 p. 12°, cl., $2.

Taylor, Mary Imlay. My Lady Clancarty: being the true story of the Earl of Clancarty and Lady Elizabeth Spencer. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1905. [Mr.] 7+298 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

A tale of love and daring in the days of William of Orange. The heroine is the daughter of Lord Sunderland, a political turncoat who even in those days excelled his fellows in duplicity and craft. This man had married his daughter at the age of eleven to an Irish lord of fifteen, exiled from England as a Jacobite and he has never seen his wife since the wedding-day until the day the story opens, fourteen years later. An Irish love story full of ballads, dreams and many heart aches, with joyful ending.

Tennyson, Alfred, (Lord.) Selections from the poems of Tennyson; ed. for school use by Myra Reynolds. Chic., Scott, Foresman & Co., 1905. c. 363 p. 16°, (Lake English classics.) cl., 35 c. Bibliography: p. 55-56.

Theuriet, André. L'Abbé Daniel; ed., with notes, by C. Fontaine. N. Y., W: R. Jenkins, [1905.] c. '04. 4+128 p. D. (Romans choisis.) cl., 85 c.; pap., 60 c.

Thorpe, Mrs. Rose Hartwick. The white lady of La Jolla. La Jolla, Cal., R. H. Thorpe, 1904. c. 5-45 p. il. O. pap., 35 c. La Jolla is a famous seaside resort of California. The author of "Curfew must not ring to-night" tells a pathetic legend connected with its rocks.

Thruston, Mrs. Lucy Meachem. A girl of Virginia; with a frontispiece by Ch. Grunwald. [New cheaper ed.] Bost., Little, Brown & Co., [1905.] c. '02. 4+306 p. D. (Popular edition of recent fiction.) cl., 75 c.

See note, Weekly Record, P. W., June 14, 1902. [1585.]

Trevelyan, R. C. The birth of Parsival. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 9+110 p. D. cl., *$1.20 net.

A drama in blank verse, telling of the birth of Wagner's hero; may be read as an introduction to his "Parsifal." By the author of "Cecilia Gonzaga."

Turner, Albert, ed. The attainment of womanly beauty of form and features; the cultivation of personal beauty based on hygiene and health culture by twenty physicians and specialists. 4th ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., Health-Culture Co., 1904. c. 9-284 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.

Turpin, Edna H: Lee. Stories from American history for supplementary reading. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., [1905.] c. '04. 191 p. D. (Graded supplementary reading lessons.) cl., 40 c.

Vachell, Horace Annesley. Brothers. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1905. c. '04. 15+415 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

The brothers are Archie and Mark Sampire two English boys, whose history begins at Harrow. Archie the elder boy is a strong, handsome fellow but without any trace of great gifts; Mark physically weak and lacking his brother's good looks is a genius, and as the author says "a born fighter," but ready to give and to sacrifice everything for the elder brother. Further on, after college days, they both love the same woman. With these conditions, a most interesting story has been evolved, that has its scenes among refined and highly educated people.

Valentine, E: Uffington. Hecla Sandwith. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 6+433 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Central Pennsylvania in the year 1856, with its many iron foundries and rich iron masters and their families, and the quaint Quaker population are the factors in a romantic tale of home and love. Several love stories are traced from inception to close, the most important being that of Hecla Sandwith, the heroine.

Van Dyke, H: Jackson. The school of life. N. Y., Scribner, 1905. [Mr.] c. 2+37 p. nar. D. bds., *$0 c. net.

That life itself is the great educational school is the subject of Dr. Van Dyke's paper. It may also be called a contribution to the subject of "the simple life."

Van Zile, E: Sims. Perkins, the fakeer. N. Y., Smart Set Publishing Co., 1905. [Mr.] 352 p. il. 12°, (Smart set ser.) pap., 50 c.

Villari, Luigi, ed. The Balkan question: the present condition of the Balkans and of European responsibilities by various writers; ed. by Luigi Villari; introd. by J. Bryce. N. Y., Dutton, 1905. [F6.] 362 p. 8°, cl., *$3 net.

Villiers, F: Port Arthur; three months with the besiegers: a diurnal of occurrents. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 4+176 p. il. facsimiles, pars. map, O. cl., *$2.50 net.

Frederic Villiers is an English war correspondent who arrived at the Japanese headquarters at Dalny to report the progress of the Russo-Japanese war on August 4 of last year. He remained with the army for three months, using both his pen and camera to record the passing events. Mr. Villiers is the author of "Pictures of many wars."

Ward, Mrs. Mary Augusta, [Mrs. Humphry Ward.] The marriage of William Ashe; il. by Albert Stern. N. Y., Harper, 1905. [Mr.] c. 4+563 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

It is easy to trace a resemblance between Mrs. Ward's characters and a notorious group of English people of the eighteenth century, although presented in the environment of a later period and with changed names and appearances. Lady Kitty Bristol who becomes the wife of William Ashe displays many of the eccentricities, brilliant talents and personal beauty that made Lady Caroline Lamb famous. Madame d'Estrees is certainly a portrait of Lady Blessington and Geoffrey Cliffe's career is suspiciously like Byron's in some details. William Ashe only presents the finer side of William Lamb's character—who later became Lord Melbourne and Prime Minister of England. Politics and love, with charmingly lifelike scenes from English high-life are the substance of the novel. William Ashe's unhappy marriage parallels that of William Lamb. His political career is also similar.

Watson, Evelyn. The house by the red pump: a story. St. Louis, Mo., Becktold Print. and Book Mfg. Co., [1904.] c. '04. 2+153 p. S. cl., $1.

Whibley, C: Literary portraits. N. Y., Dutton, 1905. [F6.] 313 p. 8°, cl., *$2.50 net.

Whitson, J: Harvey. Barbara: a woman of the west; with a frontispiece by Chase Emerson. [New cheaper ed.] Bost., Little, Brown & Co., [1905.] c. '03. 4+314 p. D. (Popular edition of recent fiction.) cl., 75 c. See note, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 25, 1903. [1630].

Wilkins, Philip A. The history of the Victoria cross: an account of 520 acts of bravery for which the decoration has been awarded and portraits of 392 recipients. N. Y., Dutton, 1905. 443 p. 4°, cl., *$6 net.

Wilson, Theodora. Langbarrow Hall. N. Y., Appleton, 1905. [Mr.] c. 3+401 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Langbarrow was an Irish estate. Its happy-go-lucky lord and his calculating younger brother both have a child born the same day, the boy and heir going to the younger brother, while the lord of Langbarrow Hall has the girl who proves the leading spirit of the story. Many family relations work together to fret the soul of the lord in possession. Money and debt play decisive parts, at first leading to tragedy. The women of the story play the stronger parts for good or evil.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 25, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

QUESTIONABLE MEANS OF SELLING BOOKS.

It is important that the book-trade, and through it, the book-buying public, should be from time to time informed as to the "many inventions" and devious devices by which high-priced books are foisted upon unwary purchasers. Whether it is fair to class in this way the limited editions de luxe, at a few hundred dollars per copy, of which we have heard more or less in the courts, is perhaps a matter of opinion. But, indeed, most of these enterprises are not to be condemned from the point of view of the law, but rather as a matter of practical ethics—though some overstep the mark and accomplish their purpose by means more than questionable legally. One of the most extraordinary of these enterprises, of which the book trade itself never hears, turned up at such places as Newport and Lenox a couple of years ago in the shape of a hundred-dollar publication on the great operas of which the solicitors showed advance pages—the profits from which, it was stated, were to be used in lobbying through Congress a bill for the establishment of a National Opera. Whatever became of the book and the scheme, the National Opera has not so far been established.

It is a favorite device of subscription book publishers to revamp an old line of books perhaps in bettered shape, and by help of advertising, more or less misleading, to place these on the market, with great flourish of trumpets, through agents or through the coupon system. Among such enterprises perhaps the most notable is the reissue of Dr. John Lord's antique "Beacon Lights of History," popular volumes a generation ago, but scarcely up to present-day views of the writing of history. Another was the reissue, at a net price of $40 for 33 volumes, of the venerable Abbott series of popular histories, including, besides the single volumes still issued by the Harpers at a reasonable price, the biography of Napoleon by J. S. C. Abbott, which formed a feature of the earliest volumes of Harper's New Monthly Magazine. The Outlook Company is utilizing its imprint and its advertising pages to market a series more worthy of respect in the "Historians' History of the World," an English compendium, with introduction by living scholars of the works of the great historians from Herodotus down; but unfortunately it seems to have lent itself to the usual buncombe in the statement that "more than $350,000 has been spent on the work," a statement that scarcely seems justifiable, except by reckoning possible payments years and centuries ago to long since dead authors.

Another favorite device is the establishment of so-called "societies" which have for their stated purpose some altruistic aim, but for their real purpose too often the sale of a book by subscription. It is to be feared that among these is to be reckoned the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association of the United States, of which General Miles became President, and whose Board of Governors included distinguished gentlemen from several States who either had nothing to do with the society or were even ignorant of the use of their names. To these was attached the Jeffersonian Society, and these organizations have been issuing and selling a memorial edition of Jefferson's writings with introductions to the several volumes by distinguished writers. The profits on this edition, which was scarcely necessary, in view of the monumental edition edited by Paul Leicester Ford, were to be used for the establishment of a Jefferson memorial. Latest among these enterprises seems to be the "National Alumni," "incorporated with 300 charter members," "to solidify the college interests of America." A circular letter signed by John Rudd, as secretary, announcing "a unique production of great historical importance" led to inquiries as to these charter members, among whom President Hadley of Yale and President Butler of Columbia were mentioned. Both disavow any knowledge of the organization or its "unique production," and President Hadley writes: "I believe it is good law that no person is made a charter member of a corporation without his consent, and in any event I have not given my consent to the use of my name in connection with any such project, nor do I remember having even been asked about it."

Another abuse is the use of misleading names for societies which suggest, though they do not copy, the names of well-known organizations. Thus the Grolier Club is a well-known organization of booklovers, which has published many important volumes, with which the "Grolier Society," which is engaged in publishing "secret memoirs" has no relation whatever. A "Cambridge Society," incorporated, which emphasizes its relations with "King Edward's Book of Common Prayer," is just now exploiting an edition of Disraeli's works to buyers who may perhaps be induced by its name to suppose that it has some connection either with the university at Cambridge, England, or that at Cambridge, Massachusetts, neither of which is the fact.

It is a favorite device of such merchants of books to offer to send complimentary copies or some other valuable gift, to members of the Authors' Club or distinguished scholars or other well-known people, either as bait for their own subscriptions or to bait hooks for the unwary public with their testimonials. The use of agents of the Ancient Mariner type, who hold their victim with glittering eye and a more glib tongue is no longer so general a nuisance as of old; but in place of him has come the delusive circular with its elusive enticements, and the coupon system, under which, for the modest sum of one dollar, and succeeding dollars whose total is kept somewhat in the background, book-buyers are enticed to part with their well-earned dollars. We do not mean to suggest that the coupon system has not been a valuable and worthily-used means of selling books, but its abuse has been almost as general as its worthy use.

It is good to get good books widely circulated among the people; but most of these devices give the people less for their money than the regular trade can do with so-called regular books. The local bookseller should keep a sharp eye out for schemes of this sort which appeal to his local constituency and which divert from him the dollars of customers to whom he could give for their money much better return.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Times is perplexed at the delivery through the American Express Company of books mailed from England with English postage stamps affixed to pay carriage. The explanation is very simple. Until now, (when happily arrangements for parcels post with Great Britain, as per the treaty signed by the President February 17, to take effect April 1, and with France are in process,) our own post office has been so old-fogyish that the British and French post offices could not make the parcels post arrangements with America that they had made with most other countries. Consequently an arrangement with the American Express Company was made by the British post office for the delivery and receipt in America of parcels post packages from or for Great Britain. Our postal authorities are gradually waking up to the desirability of bringing our postal facilities up to the standard of other postal systems, and it is gratifying to know that the parcels post with Great Britain and France as well as with Germany will presently be in effect.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF COPYRIGHT IN CONGRESS, 1789-1904.

THE Library of Congress is issuing as Copyright Office Bulletin No. 8, under the title of "Copyright in Congress, 1789-1904," a bibliography and chronological record of all proceedings in Congress in relation to copyright from April 15, 1789, to April 28, 1904, (First Congress, 1st session, to Fifty-eighth Congress, 2d session.) In fact, during the printing of the bulletin the record of Congressional action has been brought down to January 27, 1905, inclusive. It is to be regretted that it was not practicable to bring it to the close of the present session, March 3, when the recent amendment regarding translations became law. This important work, a large octavo of 468 pages, has been prepared by Thorvald Solberg, Register of Copyrights, whose enterprise in preparing this and preceding bibliographies in connection with the Copyright Office will have important bearing in connection with the revision and codification of copyright law, which will presently be set under way at the initiative of the Librarian of Congress, in accordance with the suggestion in the Senate report. Mr. Solberg gives credit for the work of compilation to his assistants, Mrs. Harriet deK. Woods and Miss Kelton and Miss Goodman, and for the excellent index to Miss Laddon, and he also pays a deserved tribute to Amzi Smith, Superintendent of the Senate Document Room, whose careful record of Congressional documents and personal knowledge of them has much facilitated the present work.

The scope of the work may be seen from the statement that pages 29-73 record with full title and notes the bills introduced into

Congress from that introduced June 23, 1789, which as amended became the first copyright law May 3, 1790, to the amendment introduced in December last, with an added note on patent and trade-mark bills; pages 74-83 the printed reports; pages 83-84 the resolutions; pages 84-96 the measures which became laws, twenty-five being public laws, the last providing interim copyright in connection with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and nine private laws for the "relief" of specific persons; pages 96-111 the petitions, memorials, messages and miscellaneous printed copyright documents. This constitutes the first, and in a sense the most important, part of the work. Pages 112-377, the body of the work, are given to the chronological record, laboriously compiled from the official records of Congress, 1789-1904, giving succinctly every reference to copyright on the floor of either house, as recorded in the Journals, from the First Congress up to the end of 1904, with notes covering pages 378-387. A very full index, covering pages 389-468, refers not only to bills, petitions, etc., in general, but to the individual name of each person, organization, or institution appearing or represented at committee hearings or in petitions. The activity of the typographical unions, for instance, is suggested by the three pages occupied in the index by the petitions from local unions, mostly in connection with the manufacturing clause. The work in its details is formal rather than descriptive; it gives facts as to names of bills, etc., rather than as to their contents. Within these limitations it is a useful work, evincing alike patience and skill. In an interesting introduction of twenty pages Mr. Solberg discusses briefly the revision of the copyright laws, schedules proposed legislation, and gives the full text, and then pending copyright bills, of which only one, that affecting translations, has since become law. The fact that no less than five distinct copyright measures were brought forward at the last session is cited as proof that our copyright laws need revision, and it is wisely suggested that "the subject should be dealt with as a whole, and the inefficient and antiquated laws now in force be replaced by one consistent, liberal and adequate in statute."

"The laws as they stand," Mr. Solberg continues, fail to give the protection required, are difficult of interpretation, application and administration, leading to misapprehension and misunderstanding, and in some directions are open to abuses. During more than a century of legislation upon this subject a highly technical copyright system has been developed, under which valuable literary and artistic property rights have come to depend upon exact compliance with statutory formalities—"a necessity distinguishing our copyright legislation from that of all other countries." This is but plain common sense, and now that the Copyright Office, through the authorization given to the Librarian of Congress by the Senate report, has opportunity to prepare a draft for consideration, it is to be hoped that this may be promptly done.

GERMAN-AMERICAN COPYRIGHT.

THE importance of the copyright amendment approved March 3 is emphasized by an incident in the German Reichstag on March 15, which doubtless occurred in absence of knowledge as to the bearing of this amendment. D. Mueller, of Meiningen, referred to the copyright arrangement between Germany and the United States, characterizing the agreement of January 15, 1892, as "nothing less than a free gift of German intellectual property to Americans." He said a volume of Georg Ebers's novels sold in the United States for five cents and in Germany for $2.50 to $4.12. An entire book by Wilhelm Busch, given gratis as a Sunday supplement of a German-American newspaper, cost in Germany 75 cents. "German industrial art," the speaker said, "is exposed to the danger of suffering great losses in the United States. Present conditions are wholly untenable, and must be completely overhauled. Either the United States must accede to the Berne Convention or we must have not merely a formal, but material guarantee of legal protection. The principle of noblesse oblige must be respected."

Vice Chancellor Posadowsky-Mehner, in replying, said the Government in arranging for the protection of German exhibits at St. Louis discovered how extraordinarily difficult it is to deal with the United States on this subject.

"When we take up negotiations with the United States for a new commercial treaty," he said, "the copyright question will receive exhaustive consideration from the standpoint of the Berne Convention and German interests."

TRADE-MARK LEGISLATION.

ONE of the most important acts of the late session of Congress was the passage of a trade-mark law which puts trade-marks on a much more satisfactory basis than heretofore. A trade-mark duly registered is protected for twenty years, and the fee is reduced from $25 to $10. Applications for registration are to be published in the Patent Office Gazette before certificates are issued, to permit the filing of protests, and appeals from the decisions of the Commissioner of Patents may be taken to the federal courts, as in the case of patents. "Old marks," which have been in exclusive use in the United States for ten years or more, are specifically entitled to registration. Trade-marks are assignable, but only in connection with the goodwill of the article on which the mark is used. The trade-mark must carry notice of registration. The new law in general follows the precedent of the law relating to patents.

Complaint is made that great injustice is done to American trade-marks in Cuba under the precedent of Spanish law permitting registration of a trade-mark, which is misused, it is stated, by the registration of well-known American trade-marks, so that their proper owners cannot make use of them on their goods.

FIRE IN STREET & SMITH'S PUBLISHING HOUSE.

EARLY Sunday morning, March 19, a fire broke out in the bindery of the publishing house of Street & Smith, No. 38 Rose Street, New York City, and practically everything on the sixth and seventh floors was destroyed. The fire had gained dangerous headway before it was discovered. A great quantity of dime novels and other publications were scorched and water-soaked before it could be brought under control. The publishers claim a loss of $15,000.

A PUBLISHERS' BOWLING LEAGUE.

For some time past efforts have been making to form a Publishers' Bowling League, which aside from the pleasure and recreation derived from this popular sport might be the means of making the employers and employees of the publishing trade better acquainted. The Oxford University Press has been specially active in organizing a team for its house, and on Thursday, March 16, the first of what promises to be an interesting series of bowling contests was decided on Thum's White Elephant Alleys, New York City, between five men teams organized by the employees of the Oxford University Press and Ginn & Co., in which the Oxford team came out ahead. The remaining two series will be hotly contested, as the teams are evenly matched and ambitious for title of champion. It is hoped that with the beginning of next season teams will be organized throughout the trade to form the desired Publishers' Bowling League.

A NEW STANDARD BIBLE DICTIONARY.

WITHIN a year it is expected that Funk & Wagnalls will put on the market "The Standard English Bible Dictionary" in a single volume of about 700,000 words. The work is to be prepared under the editorial direction of Melancthon W. Jacobus, Dean of Hartford Theological Seminary and Professor of New Testament Literature and Criticism, Edward E. Nourse, Professor of Biblical Theology in Hartford Theological Seminary, and Andrew C. Zenos, Professor of Ecclesiastical History in McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago—men of comprehensive and active scholarship, evangelical yet fully abreast of the best scientific Biblical learning of the age. In association with them as contributors to the articles will be American and German scholars of the first rank.

"The Standard English Bible Dictionary" will not in any sense be a composite book secured by adaptation from other publications, but will contain first-hand material especially written for this work. It will be concise in form yet comprehensive in extent of subjects treated. It will confine itself to Biblical matters, avoiding extraneous material. In other words, it will be an evangelical, scholarly, and scientific work, yet popular. It will be extensively and carefully illustrated.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MRS. CHARLES BRAY, so intimately connected with George Eliot for so many years, died on February 21 at the great age of ninety years. Mrs. Bray wrote "Physiology and the Laws of Health," "The British Empire," "Our Duty to Animals," and several short stories, the best remembered of which are "Richard Barton" and "Paul Bradley."

REV. LEWIS GROUT, missionary to Natal for the American Board, a graduate of Yale University, and author of a Zulu grammar and various philosophical works, died at his home at West Brattleboro, Vt., at the age of ninety. He took a leading part in providing a standard alphabet and uniform orthography of the Zulu language, and wrote numerous essays concerning the African languages for the American Oriental Society.

SEABURY BREWSTER WILEY, son of Charles Wiley, of the firm of John Wiley & Sons, died in Birmingham, Ala., March 12, at the age of forty. Mr. Wiley was for years connected with the Blauvelt-Wiley Paper Company of New York, of which he was one of the incorporators and a joint owner. Later he sold out his interest in that concern and became identified with the Toledo Pipe-Threading Company, of Toledo, Ohio.

TYRUS BRAINERD VENTRES, one of the veterans of the book and stationery trade in Brooklyn, N. Y., died at his home in that city on the 9th inst. Mr. Ventres was born at Haddam, Conn., May 21, 1837, and began business in Hartford, Conn., in 1856. Two years later he came to New York City and entered the house of the American Sunday School Union, where he remained for eight years. He then removed to Brooklyn and started in business for himself at 62 Court Street, in the front part of a store occupied by C. C. Mudge, as an agency of the American Bible Society. His stock then consisted chiefly of tracts and Sunday-school supplies. Five years later he bought from Mr. Mudge his interest and good-will, and with a largely increased stock occupied the entire store until 1894, when he removed to 597 Fulton Street, where the business has since been carried on. Mr. Ventres was active in the management of his business until four years ago, when illness compelled him to turn over to his son, O. S. Ventres, the greater part of the detail work. The business will be carried on by his son on somewhat broader lines than heretofore.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MARTIN S. VILAS, of Burlington, Vt., five years ago wrote an estimate, extended and critical, of Charles Brockden Brown, the first American novelist, which he now has had published by the Free Press Association of Burlington. The book begins with a description of the condition of American literature when Brown wrote, followed by a biographical sketch and a detailed review of "Wieland," "Ormond," "Arthur Myrwin," "Edgar Huntly," "Clara Howard," and "Jane Talbot," his six best-known novels. There is then a general estimate of the influence of European writers on Brown, the influence of Brown on Shelley, and the influence of Brown on American literature, notably on Cooper, Irving, Hawthorne and Poe.

CHARLES DEXTER ALLEN is busy on a "Supplemental List of Early American Book Plates," in which he hopes to give a fairly complete and correct list and description of the plates in this class which have been discovered since his book was published eleven years ago. The book cannot be made complete and useful to the collector and student without the generous assistance of all who have material that should be included. No one person has all the plates or all the information. Mr. Allen, whose address is 1063 Eighty-fifth Street, Dyker Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y., will welcome any contributions to this work from reliable sources. Descriptions of plates sent in should follow the form used in "American Book Plates," as the proposed new book is a continuation of the numbered list therein. It is hoped to have this ready for distribution during the coming fall or winter.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Publishers' Circular (London) of March 4 contains the Spring Announcements of the English publishers.

Harper's Weekly for March 18 contains a reproduction of the portrait of Mrs. Humphry Ward, for which she recently sat to Albert Sterner, and an essay on her fine novel, "Marriage of William Ashe," by C. H. Gaines.

Books and Bookplates in its forthcoming quarterly issue will contain an article on "The Treasures of the Royal Library" in Dresden, and an extended bibliography of Oscar Wilde. Among the bookplate designs presented will be reproductions of plates by DeRéquier Macoy Stone, and a fine colored frontispiece reproducing a bookplate by Girardet.

The Burlington Magazine for March contains an interesting article on the Whistler Memorial Exhibition, by Bernhard Sickert, with three reproductions of some of Whistler's characteristic portraits; a description, by May Morris, of the Ascoli Cope, supposed to be of English workmanship, with three illustrations; the identification of two painters' portraits, viz., the portrait of Antonio Palma by Titian, described by Herbert Cook, and the portrait of Lorenzo Lotto, by himself, described by J. Kerr-Lawson, with two illustrations; "A Knight's Armor of the Early xvith Century," by Francis M. Kelly, with three illustrations; "The Quaratesi Altarpiece," by Gentile da Fabriano," by Lionel Cust and Herbert Horne, with two illustrations; "François Duparc," an 18th century Painter, by Phillippe Auguier, with two illustrations. Besides these there are notes on various works of art, illustrated; letters to the editor, bibliography, foreign correspondence and a list of new art books. The American publisher of this very excellent magazine is Robert Grier Cooke, 307 Fifth Avenue, New York.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY publish as No. 42 in the People's Library "That Mainwaring Affair," by A. Maynard Barbour, a thrilling story of crime and intrigue.

THE edition of Louis Tracy's story, "The King of Diamonds," which was issued without E. J. Clode's authorization, has been withdrawn, as it was an infringement of his copyright.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have already printed seven large editions of Parrish's "My Lady of the North," the Civil War story which has found favor in Canada, England and on the continent.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS has just ready the second edition, revised, of Dr. William S. Gottheil's "Manual of General Histology," a subject which is the basis of the physician's art as anatomy is the foundation of the surgeon's science.

EATON & COMPANY, Chicago, have published in the New Era series "History of the United States," by Alma Holman Burton, with maps of the scene of action and portraits of the actors in wondrous human drama of the western hemisphere.

THE Agnew bill to protect trade lists, lists of subscribers or customers, etc., from unlawful taking or using, supported by the periodical publishers, has had a hearing before the Assembly codes committee of the New York Legislature, and is likely to have favorable report.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just ready "The Pioneer," by Geraldine Bonner, who has lived her life in the mining camps of Colorado and California. Her first book, "Tomorrow's Tangle," gave her standing as a delightful literary artist, and she has again given us a sane, warm-hearted novel full of dramatic action.

DODGE PUBLISHING Co. call attention to their large supply of decorated passepartout motto cards, so popular for Easter and holiday remembrance, and to the suitability of their "Guest Book" for wedding gifts or as a souvenir to mark removal to a new home. They have just printed another edition of "A Cynic's Meditations," to meet the spring sales.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have issued a cheaper edition of Owen Kildare's "My Mamie Rose—the Story of My Regeneration," of which the sheets and illustrations remain practically unchanged, but the first edition will also be kept in stock. Although an autobiography, this book has had the success of fiction, and eight large editions have already been put on the market.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just issued Book 3 of Young and Jackson's "Arithmetics," which has already been acknowledged a most successful series of text-books in leading a child to think. Much oral work precedes the written work in each topic. The order of topics has been determined to meet the needs of the child mind, and the fine illustrations are eminently fitted to teach through the eye.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will bring out on April 2 the memorial edition of Hans Christian Andersen's "Fairy Tales" to mark the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of this writer, who has delighted two generations. These world renowned fairy tales are newly translated by H. L. Braekstad, and are illustrated with 250 characteristic pictures by Hans Tegner, the most distinguished of Danish artists.

G. E. STECHERT & Co. have just brought out the second edition of W. Carew Hazlitt's "Schools, School-Books and Schoolmasters," a contribution to the history of educational development in Great Britain. Although the basis of the volume is literary and not bibliographical, there is a select list of works or editions by William Carew Hazlitt, of the Inner Temple, chronologically arranged, which fills five pages.

THE three prize essays in the contest on the origin and history of the Bible in the English language which Miss Helen Gould instigated and financed have been published under the title "Roman Catholic and Protestant Bibles Compared," by the Bible Teachers' Training School, 541 Lexington Avenue, New York City. Two hundred and sixty-five essays were submitted, and the prize winners were awarded $1000, $500 and $250, respectively.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY have just ready "The Black Motor Car," by Harris Burland, telling of a machine of wonderful speed and endurance which defies the pursuit of the best police in England; "Reuben Larkmead," by Edward W. Townsend, of "Chimmie Fadden" memory, in which the world of polite society "grafters" is exposed with startling detail; and "When Love is King," by Margaret Doyle Jackson, in which a girl is forced to choose between two intimate friends in selecting her husband.

ROBINSON, LUCE COMPANY have just issued "Little Burr, the Warwick of America," a tale of Revolutionary days, by Charles Felton Pidgin, whose "Quincy Adams Sawyer," "Blennerhassett," etc., attained such popularity. Since publishing the latter book the author has collected a great supply of material on Aaron Burr, who was its hero, and embodies much of it in this new story. He is preparing an exhaustive history of Aaron Burr, and in studying for material he has struck the romantic facts which he embodies in the present tale.

GINN & COMPANY, Boston, have issued a volume on "Trusts, Pools and Corporations," edited, with an introduction, by William Z. Ripley, Professor of Economics at Harvard University, which is the first of a series to be known as Selections and Documents in Economics. It will be followed by "Trade Unionism and Labor Problems," by John R. Commons, of the University of Wisconsin; "Sociology and Social Problems," by Thomas N. Carver, of Harvard University; and by "Taxation and Public Finance," by Charles J. Bullock, also of Harvard University.

DAVID MCKAY, Philadelphia, has just issued the third edition, revised and enlarged by expert engineers, of "The Traction Engine, Its Use and Abuse," by James H. Maggard, including instructions on gas and gasoline engines, with special chapters on threshing machines and how to run a threshing rig. The author's preface says that this book is intended for engineers of farm and traction engines—"rough and tumble engineers," who with the same engine do eight-horse work one day and sixteen-horse work the next, use well water, creek water and stagnant water and are useful everywhere.

THE DIAL COMPANY, Chicago, has undertaken a familiar experiment in the publication of "The Trade Book List," in imprint editions for the use of booksellers. The lists are published monthly in compact small pamphlet form, and give classified record of recent publications. They bear the cover title "List of the Latest Books," and are sent out to reach dealers two or three days before the first of each month. The dealer's name and address in full are printed on the cover of his imprint edition, and the purpose is to supply booksellers at moderate rates with individual sales catalogues of current publications.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY has just issued its first innovation of a long-established custom to print and circulate only the King James or "authorized" version of the Holy Scripture. It has ready for publication an edition of the Standard American Revised Bible with its own imprint and binding from the plates of, and by arrangement with, the owners of the copyright, Thomas Nelson & Sons. The book is a handy 24mo in minion type, and is neatly bound in cloth with red edges, the selling price being twenty-five cents. An edition of the New Testament, 32mo, is also issued at twelve and eighteen cents per copy, according to the binding. It is said that the American Revision Committee offered their version for publication originally to the society, who declined it.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish to-day "The Heart of Hope," a novel by Norval Richardson, a story of war times; "Amanda of the Mill," by Marie Van Vorst; "The Apple of Eden," an outspoken, dramatic novel by E. Temple Thurston; and "Browning—a Biography," by Charles Harold Herford, the seventh of the series of Modern English Writers. During the month they will publish "The Trial of Jesus," by Giovanni Rosadi, translated from the Italian by Dr. Emil Reich. This is said to be already one of the most widely read books in Italy and Germany, and will be published in England at the same time that the American edition appears. Signor Rosadi, who is a famous Florentine lawyer, condemns the trial of Jesus by the standard of Roman law. His lecture on the trial, delivered in 1896, was assailed from many sides and created much discussion in Italy.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will shortly bring out "A Publisher's Confession," containing the articles which have appeared anonymously in the Boston Transcript and have led to much discussion of their frank revelation of facts and figures in regard to the making of books. On April 6 they will bring out an anniversary edition of Henry George's "Progress and Poverty," to mark the 25th anniversary of the appearance of this famous book, of which 2,000,000 copies in many languages are abroad in the world. The second large edition of "The Opening of Tibet," by Perceval Landon, is just ready; and new editions of "The Clansman," "The Lion's Skin," "Hurricane Island" and "Tommy Carteret." The house has also just ready "The Indifference of Juliet," by Grace S. Richmond; and "The First Book of Farming," by Charles L. Goodrich. Doubleday, Page & Co. have also purchased the stock and publication rights of Andrew Carnegie's "The Gospel of Wealth."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BRANTFORD, ONT.—J. & J. Sutherland, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

DES MOINES, IA.—The Baker & Trisler Company have purchased the stock, fixtures, lease and good-will of the City Book and Stationery Company, and will for the present continue the two stores and hope to retain all the patronage of the City Book and Stationery Company.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—T. O. Cramer, books and stationery, wall paper and mouldings, has removed his large second-hand and new stock from 1321 Grand Avenue to 314 East Twelfth Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Frank Walters, formerly connected with the Baker & Taylor Co., will open a "book shop" at 730 Lexington Avenue early in April, and requests catalogues from publishers and dealers.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Wm. C. Edwards will remove the Book Hunter's Shop from 32 and 33 Triangle Building into larger quarters in the new Sibley Block. Publishers will please note the change of address.

SAN JUAN, PORTO RICA.—J. C. & W. H. Spear have formed a copartnership under the name of Spear Bros., and will open a store early in April with a line of photo supplies, stationery and books. Would like catalogues, etc.

YORK, PA.—Edward H. Keller, head clerk for a number of years at the Barnhart Book and Stationery Store, will shortly open a first-class book and stationery store on South George Street.

BOOKS WANTED.

 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.*

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

 Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.*

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Up-to-Date Equipment For Intelligent Bookselling

The Publishers' Weekly.

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest to the trade, lists of "Books Wanted" by booksellers throughout the country, and other data of importance. Subscription, $3.00 a year; to foreign countries, $4.00 a year.

The American Catalog (New series.)

Five-year cumulation, 1900-1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of publishers, with full street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, net, $6.00. (In press.)

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual.

This absolute necessity to the bookseller contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm names, with smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume for ready reference, with marginal index guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without Index, (concerning which see next title below), $2.00

Indexes to the Publishers' Trade List Annual.

The volume for 1902 contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues included in the volume of THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing, by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. This volume, with The Supplementary Indexes for 1903-1904, in two alphabets (158g 8vo pages, double column, nonpareil type), bound in cloth, with thumb indexes, $7.00. (Only 59 copies remain.)

The Supplementary Index 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Annual Literary Index.

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to dates of principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal Staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. (Published annually.) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

The American Educational Catalogue

Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. Published annually. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

The Profession of Bookselling:

Deledda's AFTER THE DIVORCE

Translated by MARIA HORNOR LANSDALE. $1.50

With this Sardinian novel Signora Deledda, already much admired in Italy and France, makes her American débüt. The tale commences with a dramatic murder trial, and turns on the law which makes divorce possible to the wife whose husband is a convict. The episodes that follow the trial are very striking, and are intensified by the picturesqueness of the scenes.

Colton's BELTED SEAS

$1.50

The Bookman has called Mr. Colton "an author who recalls the old tradition that there were once such things as good writing and good story telling," and his earlier books have been highly praised by high authorities. In the "Belted Seas" he strikes out into a new vein of rollicking humor. His irrepressible Captain Buckingham, and the amusing verses with which the captain constantly interlards his yarns, will linger in the memory. Mr. Colton has never shown more humor, nor more imagination than in this story of the captain's wild adventures on his voyage to strange places in South America and elsewhere.

Owen Seaman's HARVEST OF CHAFF

$1.25 net

(By mail, $1.30)

A highly amusing collection of parodies in verse by one who probably has no superior among living parodists. Among his victims are Kipling, Richard Wagner, Austin, Wordsworth, Browning, Byron, Morris and others. The author's prose burlesque, Borrowed Plumes ($1.25), are already in their third edition.

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

By GORDON HOLMES

A Detective Story

Gordon Holmes has a happy method in the way he talks to his readers. He takes something for granted instead of spinning out to a fine point every single idea.

He gives us two diametrically opposite characters in his two detectives—the Scotland Yard man and the amateur. Then he gives his readers the same clues the detectives have in Lady Dyke's disappearance.

No reader can resist the subtle invitation to speculate as to what has happened and is going to happen. It is a most involved tangle.

About May 1st, Louis Tracy's "THE GREAT MOGUL" will be out.

Edward J. Clode, Publisher, 156 Fifth Ave., New York
